

The Senate Abraham Accords Caucus exists to build on the success of the historic Abraham Accords. For decades, the United States has promoted Israel's acceptance among Arab states and advanced prospects for peace between Israel and the Palestinians. Congress, in particular, has played a key role in promoting peace between Israel and its neighbors. The Abraham Accords resulted in peace and normalization agreements between Israel and several Arab states—the United Arab Emirates, Bahrain, Sudan, and Morocco—transforming the region, enhancing Israel's security, creating economic opportunities for Arab states, and advancing vital U.S. national security interests.

The Senate Abraham Accords Caucus encourages partnerships between the United States, Israel, Arab states, and other relevant countries and regions. The bipartisan Caucus also provides Congressional leadership to strengthen and expand the Abraham Accords by promoting the benefits of normalizing relations with Israel. The Caucus is chaired by Senators James Lankford (R-OK), Jacky Rosen (D-NV), Joni Ernst (R-IA), and Cory Booker (D-NJ) and was launched on January 10, 2022.

The Caucus will:

- Encourage and seek to incentivize expansion of the Abraham Accords to include countries that do not currently have diplomatic relations with Israel;
- Highlight the importance of the Abraham Accords to achieving lasting peace in the Middle East between Israel and its neighbors, including through a negotiated solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict that ensures mutual recognition and guarantees that Israelis and Palestinians live side by side with freedom, security, and prosperity;
- Engage partner countries, including European allies, in multilateral efforts to promote the Abraham Accords;
- Foster religious freedom and tolerance throughout the Middle East through interfaith and intercultural dialogue between Israel and Abraham Accords countries;
- Support and work to enable U.S. Government investments, including through the International Development Finance Corporation and United States Agency for International Development, in cooperative projects in furtherance of the Abraham Accords; and
- Serve as a forum for conversations and connections among leaders in Abraham Accords countries as well as Egypt, Jordan, and among the Palestinian people seeking to advance cooperative and sustainable development partnerships in the areas of energy security, water infrastructure, biomedicine, cybersecurity, and emerging technologies, with the intent of furthering economic development and cooperation in the region.

The Caucus works in tandem with the House Abraham Accords Caucus, which is chaired by Representatives Cathy McMorris Rodgers (R-WA), David Trone (D-MD), Ann Wagner (R-MO), and Brad Schneider (D-IL), in addition to engaging with the Abraham Accords Caucus of the Israeli Knesset and other parliamentary groups with shared objectives.
